KENNEWICK

GOVERNOR

To the Students and Faculty of COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE...

It is a pleasure to welcome you into the family of Washington's institutions of higher learning.

Situated in one of the fastest-growing centers of the State, your College has assumed an important responsibility of educational service. We traditionally have been proud of the way in which our cultural and educational facilities have kept pace with the accelerating industrial and commercial development of the Pacific Northwest. The COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE is a splendid example.

To the students and faculty of your school I extend congratulations and best wishes on behalf of the people of the State of Washington.

Arthur B. Langlie
GOVERNOR

SUPERINTENDENT

HERMAN F. JAEGER

Two things are uppermost in my mind as I greet all of you through this first edition of Neconia; namely, pride in this year's accomplishments and a keen sense of responsibility toward the future. The achievements of COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE during this first year are outstanding, but their true value will be measured only in the way they affect your future, and the future of our school and community. If we have laid a firm cornerstone on which to build every aspect of continued growth and development, then we shall indeed be justifiably proud.

We hope that COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE will continue as a true community college, serving your specific needs and the needs of the area. During this first year, the spirit and achievements of the administration, faculty, and students, have proven that first-class surroundings are not the prime factor of a good school. Nevertheless, every effort is being made to provide suitable permanent college buildings.

The entire Administrative Staff and Board of Education of the Pasco Schools, are proud of the record of 1955-56. We join in accepting a share in the responsibility for the future of COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE.

Herman F. Jaeger
SUPERINTENDENT

REGISTRAR

GEORGE P. ASKEGAARD

Your registrar feels proud and honored to have the privilege of serving the first student body of COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE. Interviews with prospective students during the summer months of 1955 strengthened his belief in the youth of our community. It was, frankly, a joy to be able to sit and discuss educational problems with young adults and to be able to recommend an educational program to them.

This college was designed primarily to service students within commuting distance in this area. It is the desire of this institution to keep pace with the needs of this service area. With rapidly expanding industrial age wherein skills and technical information are a prerequisite to employment we feel that it is our duty to provide this training as far as possible. To this end the college endeavors to offer courses which stimulate thinking, develop skills, and foster those qualities of personality and character which will aid a student to become a mature person and a functioning part of a democratic society.

We want our junior college to be a strong, vigorous educational institution in its own right, offering sound courses of study taught by capable faculty members. This we dedicate ourselves to do.

George P. Askegaard
REGISTRAR

JACK E. COONEY

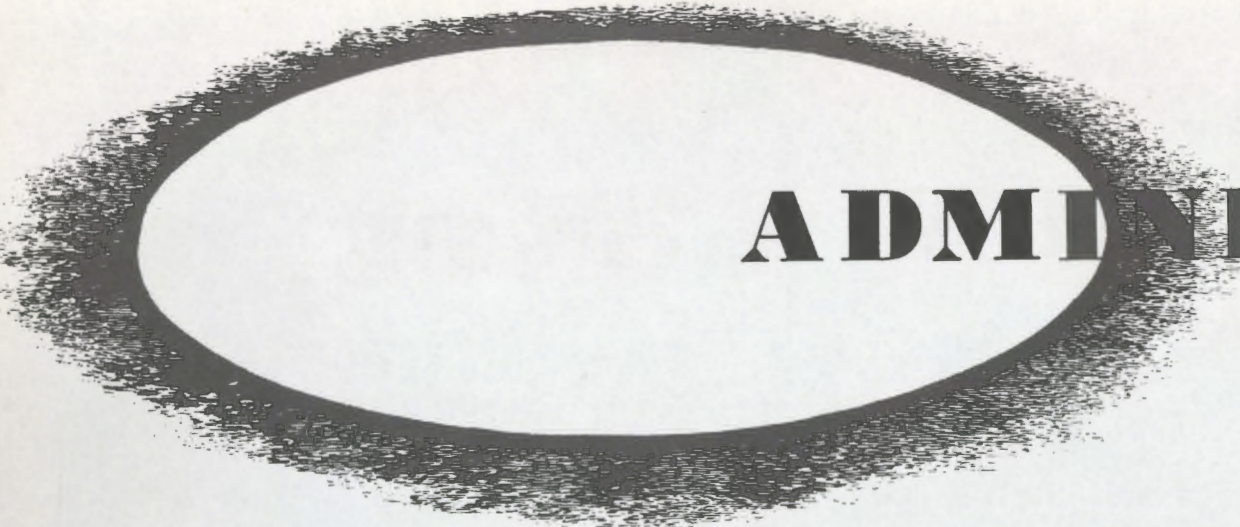

We of the college administrative staff point with pride to the accomplishments of the student body in its activities of this first year, 1955-56. Your strides in promoting a democratic student government, your successful athletic program, your student newspaper, dramatic presentation, student-sponsored social events and this your first annual have laid a firm foundation for our college of tomorrow. Behind the success of your activities lies the "Spirit of COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE".

Congratulations to you, the staff of the Neconia and to the students of COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE. You have opened the door to a future of great promise.

MESSAGE

A SALUTE TO AN AMBITIOUS UNDERTAKING AND A PROMISING FUTURE

The fall of nineteen-hundred fifty-five marked the commencement of COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE and its organization of an associated student body, school paper, annual, intercollegiate sports, and other student sponsored organizations.

When the fall quarter began, the organization we now call the ASSOCIATED STUDENTS OF COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE was nonexistent. Formulating a new constitution, we then proceeded to elect the initial officers and legislative council.

As the year progressed the council was busy approving newly organized clubs and handling matters which pertained to student body affairs. Sufficient funds were not available for many student body functions, but with these meager funds our organizations have grown and have conducted themselves in a manner worthy of any institution.

Devoted guidance and cooperation have made this first year at COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE a success. The administration and faculty have helped in no small way to channel our thoughts and ideals in the proper direction.

The council and officers, with whom I worked during the year, were alert, willing and cooperative. They are deserving of the highest commendation which a president could give his fellow workers, as they were instrumental in promoting harmony in the student body.

I sincerely hope the student body will always stand for the protection and perpetuity of the spirit, friendships and traditions, which we have endeavored to create.

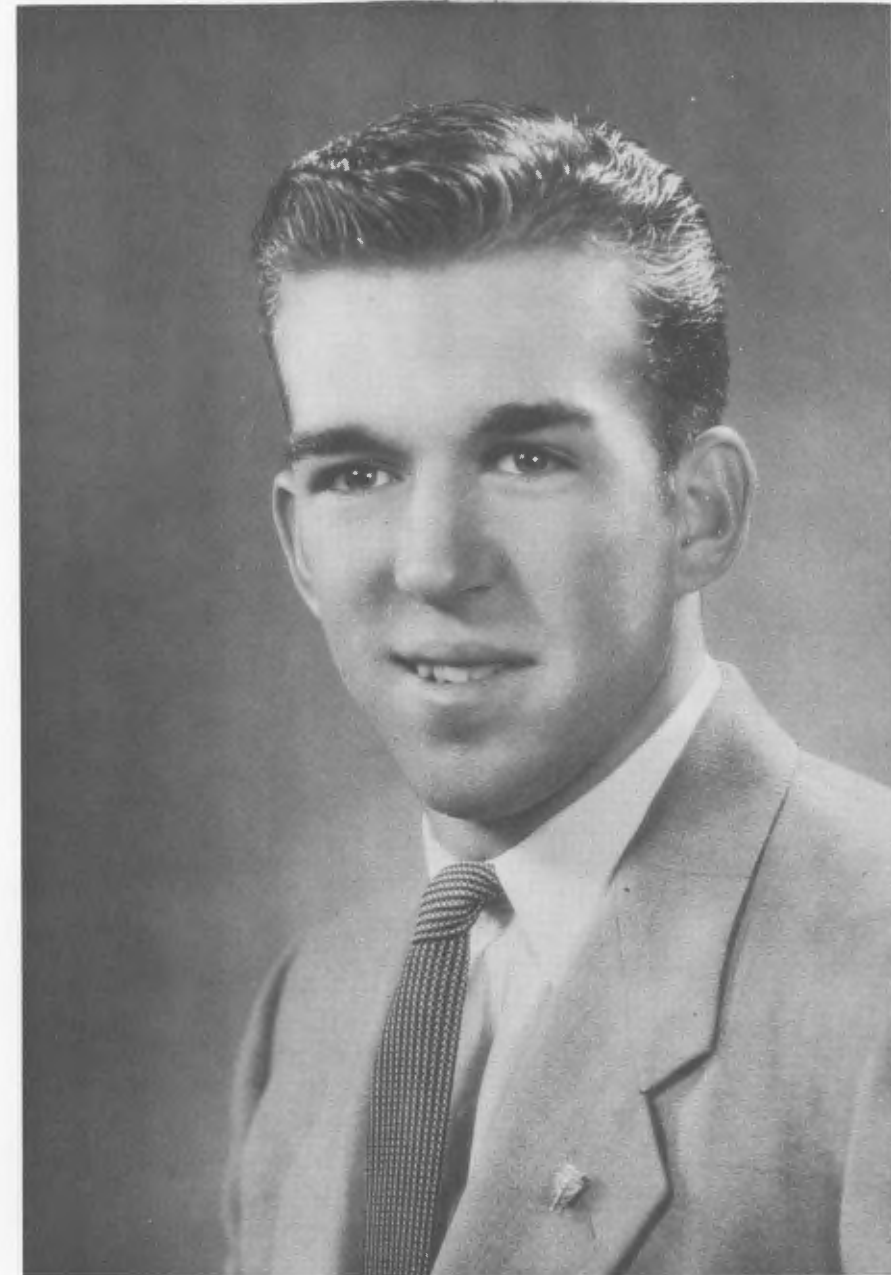

I wish to express my appreciation for the loyalty and support given by the students and administration during my term of office.

I hope the students of COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE have enjoyed having me as their Student Body President as much as I have enjoyed serving them.

The German Club was organized during the early part of the winter quarter. With only three members in the club this year, the club accomplished more than was expected of a small group.

The main project was the printing and distributing of basketball programs for the home basketball games. The German Club sponsored two "After-the-Game" mixers. The club also enjoyed a social evening in a German home, which was enjoyable and informative to the members.

MESSAGE

The Associated Women Students was one of the first clubs to be organized at COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE. It has been a busy but a successful year for all the women at the college.

The A. W. S. held their first meeting in the early part of October of 1955 and it was agreed to sponsor a mixer for the purpose of acquainting faculty members and students with one another. Our second activity took place December 9, 1955, which was a semi-formal dance. We had three weeks preparation for this activity which consisted of headaches, stomach disorders and practically a nervous breakdown for our patient and understanding advisor Mrs. Venetta Stappler. The dance proved to be a success; our only trouble was we didn't budget our expenses as carefully as we should have, but then how many women at our age are economists? And so we had expenses galore and not sufficient funds.

Since that time we have sponsored candy sales, a dinner for the Quarterback Club of the Tri-City Area, a dinner for The Men Teachers Honorary Organization of the Tri-City Area, a Saint Pat's Day mixer, and we were co-sponsors with the Vet's Club on the spring formal dance on May 6, 1956.

The A. W. S. has also been participating in helping with other activities for the school. They have acted as hostesses and ushers for several different events.

I wish to thank all of my officers and advisor for their cooperation in helping to better our school by setting some examples as well as traditions for future Associated Women Students of COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE.

MESSAGE

The Vet's Club was organized during the winter quarter of 1956. The club has accomplished its primary purposes of working for the betterment of COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE and providing the veterans with an opportunity to express their problems, and enable them to participate more fully in the social activities of the college.

The steps, door, and parking area were built at the north end of the school by the Vet's Club for the student body. This project enabled the students better access to the building and better parking facilities.

The coffee service sponsored by the Vet's Club for the evening classes proved to be a large success with the evening students.

The Vet's Club held their first dance during the winter quarter in the college cafeteria to acquaint the wives and friends of the veterans with other students. It was felt the dance helped school spirit and more such activities were encouraged.

A party for the veterans was held in the spring quarter and was a hi-light in the veteran's school year. It is hoped that this annual party will become a traditional part of our school.

To the future students of COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE we leave our accomplishments made this year as a starting point for them to attain greater achievements. With this in mind we will always carry a fond memory and respect for our school, the COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE.

COACH

MR. STAKKESTADT

With the birth of our new COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE came the challenge of entering into the activities of the schools already in the state Junior College system. This challenge is very evident in the sports field. COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE decided to enter the strong Washington State Junior College League in basketball, for its first competition among its fellow schools. The task of making our "debut " a creditable showing, rather than merely serving as a "doormat" for the league, presented a tremendous challenge to the players, the coach, and the student body.

From the first turnout the spirit that enabled us to make a fair showing was in evidence. Many boys who had played little or not at all in high school came out to help our cause. Squad members who took part in the first practices in COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE history were Dave Forrest, Bob Burkett, Dick Nelson, Jim Jones, Chuck Ramp, Mark Maulder, Dick Block, and Bob Simonton. These boys were mainstays of this first year team. The first practices were ragged, and our first games bordered on disaster, but our team members kept working as hard as ever. At the start of the Winter quarter, four boys, Chuck Platsman, Dennis Olson, Lynn Gillespie, and Glynn Gibson, joined the team and gave us much-needed support. At the same time, the team lost the services of starting guard, Mark Maulder, who departed for his home in Michigan.

League play began warily in January with COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE dropping its first four games, but even in losing, the team began to show its potential strength. Then on January 19, 1956, COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE won its first game, an 85-81 win over Wenatchee on their home court. This night also gave COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE'S pep band, a volunteer group of enthusiastic students, their chance to help COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE'S cause. This group formed the nucleus of our very good cheering section. COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE won its next two games at home over Centralia and Everett before losing a close game to Olympic at Bremerton. COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE completed the season with a 5-9 league record, a very creditable showing for a team slated for no wins. We hope the team spirit and determination shown by these boys becomes a permanent part of future COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE teams.
